EPA Region 9 HABs Pre-meeting Webinar: On April 5th, we are hosting a half-day webinar on Harmful Algal Blooms (HABs) in drinking and recreational surface waters. Over 300 people are registered, representing federal, state, county, city, and tribal agencies, water utilities, water body managers, park districts, NGOs, academia, labs and consultants. This webinar is in coordination with the EPA Region 9 in-person HABs Meeting April 25-27, 2017, at the SCCWRP facility in Costa Mesa, CA. Both events are co-hosted with the EPA Office of Science Technology, Office of Water, and Office of Ground Water and Drinking Water, Standards and Risk Management Division. (Keydel, 2-3106)

EPA Tribal Science Webinar Series: On April 11th, we will give a presentation on the “EPA Collaborations with Tribes to Address HABs in the Klamath River Basin”, a webinar focused on “Harmful Algal Blooms (HABs): Research, Collaborations, and Other Activities”. The EPA Tribal Science Webinar Series is a public forum co-hosted by the National Center for Environmental Research (NCER) and the Office of Science Policy. (Keydel, 2-3106)
